American Education Week @ EMMS November 18-22, 2019

Good Evening Ellicott Mills Community,

Next week is American Education Week, which is an exciting week for community engagement at Ellicott Mills Middle School! On behalf of the EMMS Staff, I want to cordially invite you to visit 'The Mill' next week. You are welcome to visit any time during the week between the 8:30AM and 2:30PM. In an effort to make you feel included in our classroom communities, EMMS teachers may have special activities or accommodations to welcome parents and guardians on Monday, November 18th. Again, you are welcomed to visit any time during the week based on your availability and schedule, but if at all possible we kindly encourage classroom visitation on Monday. You are also welcome and encouraged to have lunch with your child any day of the week (November 18-22). Due to limited space in the cafeteria, we ask that you grab your kiddo from the cafeteria and make your way to the Media Center where we have a place set up for you to eat with your child.

Procedures for visiting EMMS:

1. Please check-in with the reception table in the main lobby. Please remember to bring your identification.
2. Make your way to the Media Center where you will find: access to schedules, student ambassadors, and light refreshments. Note: if you could have your child's schedule printed out or accessible by smartphone that would be helpful.
3. You will be escorted to your child's class or cafeteria by a student ambassador (Monday only).
 - Have a blast visiting your child's classes in true middle school form.
 - Have a blast eating lunch with your child in the Media Center.
4. When leaving the building, please make your way back to the Media Center to grab any belongings and sign-out in the main lobby.

Your partnership and support is a crucial component to the success of not just your child, but every student at 'The Mill.' Thank you for always giving us your best. We look forward to seeing you next week!

In partnership,

Peter M Gaylord

Principal
